

Correlation vs. causality

Simpson's Paradox

A trend or result that is present when data is put into groups that reverses or disappears when the data is combined.

